Newsletter –Friday 18th May 2018

Best wishes to Prince Harry & Meghan Markle on their Wedding day tomorrow!

Dear Parents and Guardians

What a lovely way to end a busy week, with all the classes celebrating tomorrow's royal wedding! A huge well done to all the Year 6's this week who have worked extremely hard on their SATs tests. It is never a very nice time of year, however they have conducted themselves with a great deal of maturity and have remained calm throughout. Well done, you should be proud!

We have some great trips and visits coming up before half term with Phase 2 all off to the Hay Festival on Thursday. It won't all be about drinking Pimms and reading books on a deck chair in the sun, as they will be seeing some fantastic authors, including Tony De Saullles; famous for Bee Boy and his best-selling Horrible Science series.

Enjoy your weekend!

Busy Bees Aconbury Woods & Forest Schools

Busy Bees class had a beautiful sunny visit to Aconbury woods this week. They had a fun morning holding insects, going on a tree hunt and identifying things made from wood.

Year 1 children also had a lovely afternoon at Forest School on Wednesday making miniature gardens in shoe boxes.

The children were very creative.

Worker Bees Art

The Worker Bees have been inspired this week by the art work of Andy Goldsworthy to create their own pieces of colourful natural artwork.

Car Seats

Polite request: If you need to leave a car seat at school in the morning for someone else to collect your child in the afternoon, could we ask that rather than leaving it in the school office could you please use the bike shelter on the main playground?

The playground is locked during the day so it will remain secure in there. Thank you.

Design the Pre-School Competition

As you will no doubt have noticed the pre-school build is coming along nicely. We are running a competition, which is open to all ages from pre-school to year 6, to design how you would like the pre – school to look when it is finished.

We have a prize for the winning entry which has been kindly donated by TG Escapes.

Bring any entries in to the school office, drawn on A4 paper, with your child's name on the back, by Friday 15th June.
